

DOCUMENTATION OF NYC PROTESTS THROUGH PHOTOGRAPHY

Photos @Erica Lansner

Caitlyn Jonsson

Bryant Park. Justice for Floyd march on first day of Chauvin trial. 3/8/21.

Times Square. Moment of silence in memory of Breonna Taylor. 3/16/21.

What does your photography of protest mean to you?

‘Photographing protests is my form of activism, my way of being both present as well as supportive of the causes I believe in. Most importantly, it gives me an opportunity to share and amplify the voices of the people and the passion of the movement. I believe that the privilege of being able to capture these moments also comes with great responsibility. I always attempt to capture the humanity and the emotion behind the people involved in protests, and treat each subject with respect and dignity.’

Erica Lansner

Credits

Erica Lanser; IG @elansner